

Rachel McIntyre Smith

COUNTRY SINGER-SONGWRITER

Raised in the endearing small town of Oliver Springs, Tennessee, singer-songwriter Rachel McIntyre Smith learned to play piano at the age of 9 to one up a classroom rival and has been making music ever since. Drawing inspiration from Kacey Musgraves, Linda Ronstadt, and Taylor Swift, Rachel blends country & vintage pop with her signature clever & catchy lyrics.

Rachel's brightly colored wardrobe fits her upbeat live shows where she has opened for Larry Fleet, Boy Named Banjo, and Caleb Lee Hutchinson who calls Rachel's release High School Reunion, "Real country music, smart wordplay, excellently written and sung even better. 10/10".
